

Is your team using AI?

Are you trying agents?

>_ the question

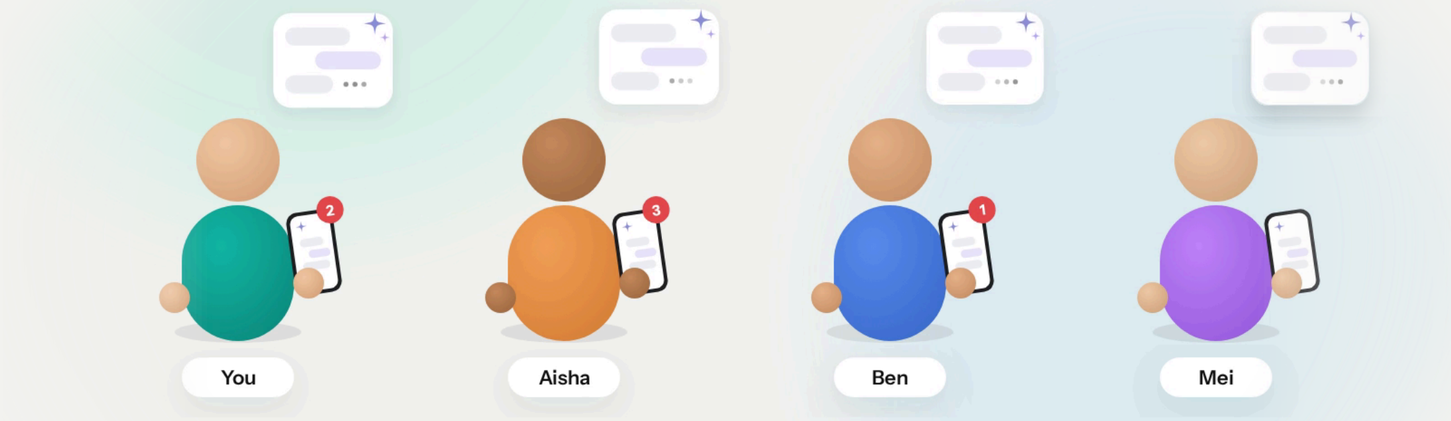

So why isn't your company any faster?

>_ the problem

Because everyone has their own AI.
Your company doesn't.

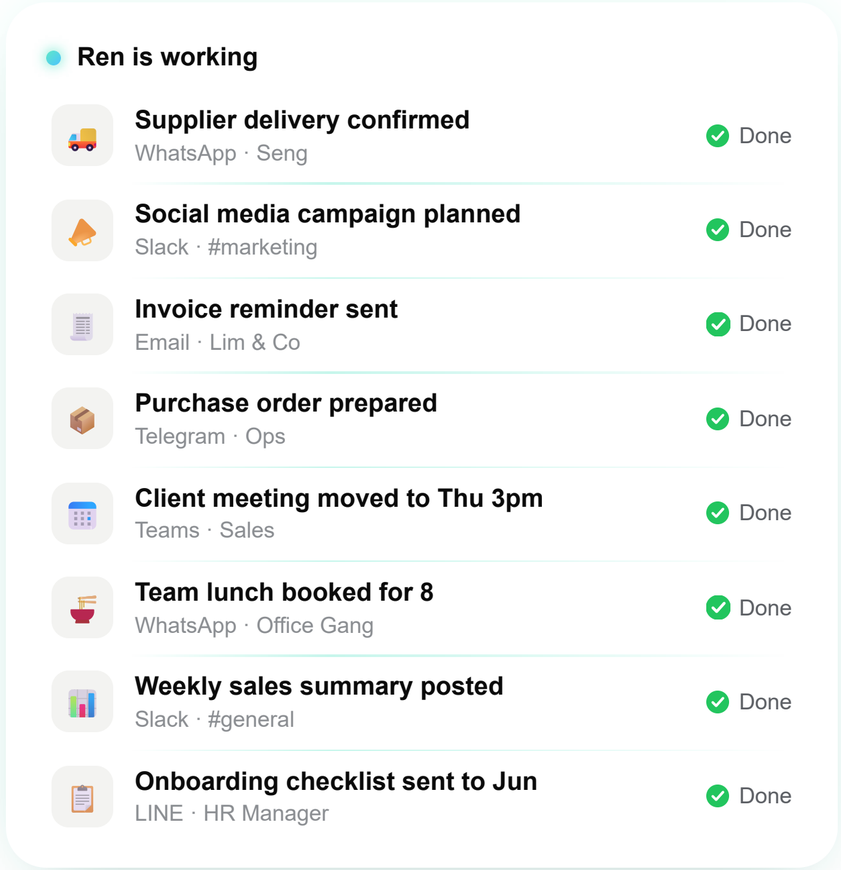

Each person's AI only knows them, not your clients, your processes or who does what.
So work still waits on handoffs, and on you.

>_ team ai for real work

Meet Ren.

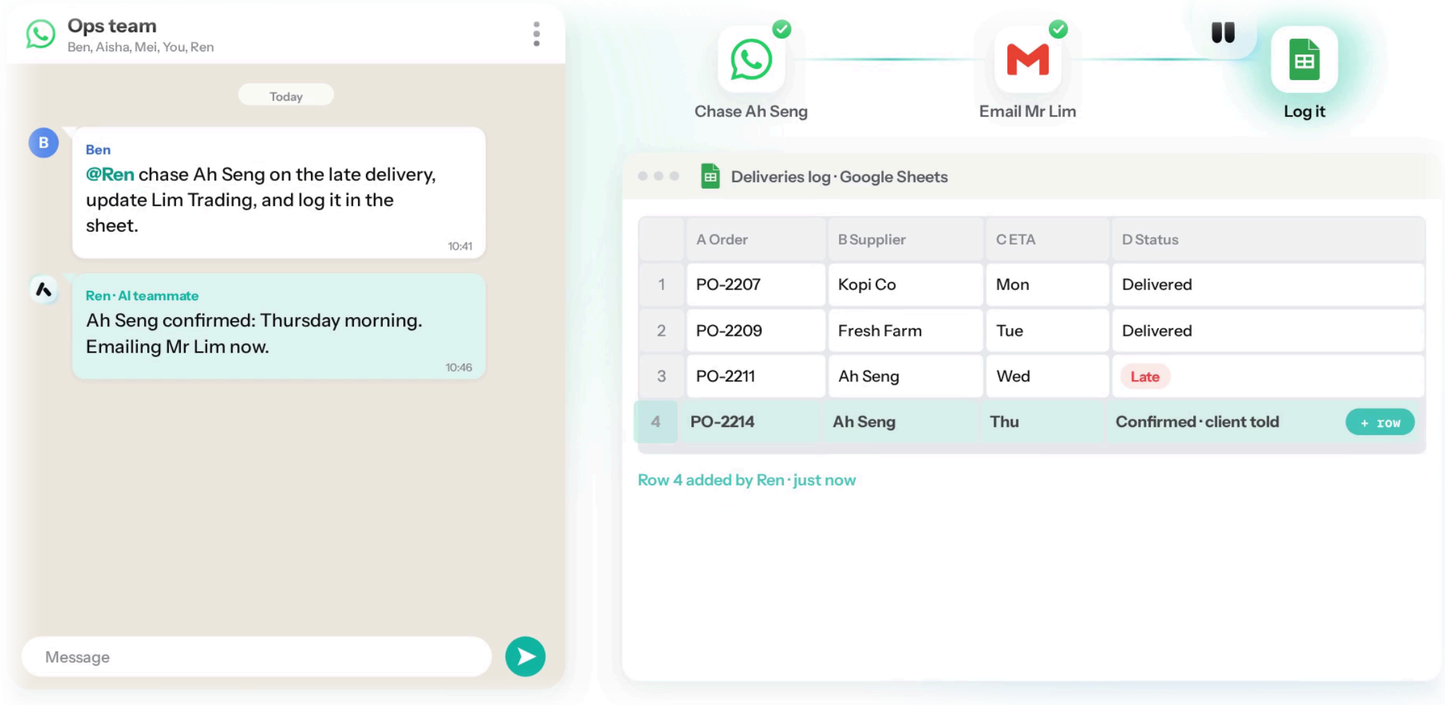

One AI for your whole company, like one more person on the team. It joins your team chat and gets real work done.

>_ how it works

Say it once, and Ren gets on it.

One message in the group chat. Ren takes it from there.

Mention

@Ren in the chat your team already uses.

Work

Ren gets on it in your tools.

Report

It posts back in the thread when it's done.

>_ three ways ren helps

The agent your whole team can count on.

From back-office admin, marketing to growing sales, Ren learns what your company needs.

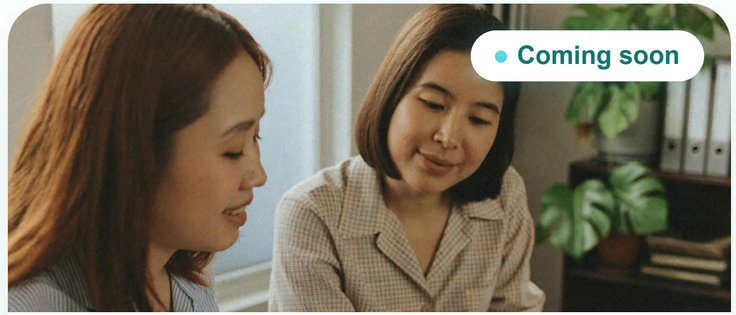

🏢 Knowledge that stays

Across your processes, your knowledge and your people, Ren knows who's who, and who can see what. Just like a trusted aide.

💬 Talks to people, not just you

Ren works inside your team. It also knows when to message your clients, suppliers and partners directly, and reports back.

🤝 Knows when to call in help

For accounting, legal and other specialist work, Ren preps everything and hands off to trusted partners and manages them for you.

We've got you covered: 🔒 Permissions per member ✋ Approval before big moves 🛡️ Data that stays yours

>_ attuned to your company

Knowledge that stays.

Your company's knowledge bank: people, processes and policies. Ren knows who's who and who can see what. When people leave, the knowledge doesn't.

>_ built to act

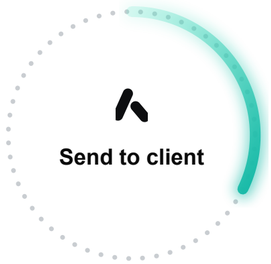

Ren isn't a chatbot.

Five things that make Ren one more person on the team.

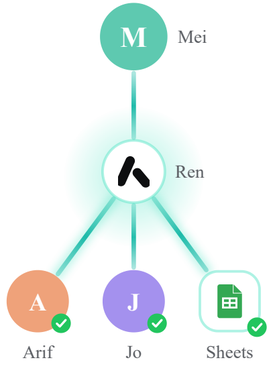

Proactive

Ren spots what's slipping, like an unpaid invoice or a missed reply, before you ask.

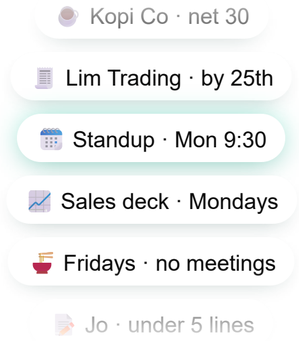

Goal-driven

Give Ren the outcome. It keeps nudging and following up until the job is done.

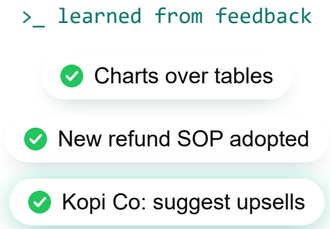

Team player

Ren works across the whole team, coordinating tasks and keeping all in the loop.

Remembers everything

Past chats, decisions and preferences. You never have to explain the same thing twice.

Better every week

Ren learns from feedback and your way of working, self-improving over time.

>_ ren dissolves into the way you work
